Taking Boxing in a New Era

Welcome to this special edition of Boxing News.

The past 12 months have been historic for boxing in many ways and this end of year review provides the ideal medium to recognise and appreciate this in all its forms.

The year 2007 has been an exceptional one. AIBA, thanks to the tremendous work of the entire AIBA family, reached some incredible highs during the year and achieved many of its objectives. Boxing now has an exceptionally bright future and all of us can be proud of what has been accomplished.

With three Executive Committee meetings, an Extraordinary Congress and revolutionary AIBA Cadet and Senior World Championships having taken place, 2007 will hold a special place in all of our hearts. We can now look forward to building on the groundwork which has led AIBA to where it is today and continuing boxing's transformation into the sport we know it can be.

Yours boxing,
Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu, AIBA President

AIBA Extraordinary Congress

A historic day for AIBA and Boxing

The 2007 AIBA Extraordinary Congress in Chicago on the eve of the AIBA World Championships Chicago 2007 saw the birth of a new AIBA and marked a turning point for international boxing following the overwhelmingly approval of the AIBA reform project which included the implementation of new AIBA statutes, a new name and a new look.

AIBA President Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu praised the participating 114 federations for their vision and determination with 103 federations voting for and only one against taking AIBA forward into a new era.

"This is a historic day for AIBA," Dr. Wu said to members in the hall. "Today is the birth of the new AIBA. The new AIBA statutes will revolutionize AIBA and allow boxing to prosper around the world."

AIBA Extraordinary Congress

Key reform decisions:

- ➔ Change of name. Formerly called the International Amateur Boxing Association, AIBA is now known as the International Boxing Association. AIBA being a combination of the English and French acronyms - IBA (International Boxing Association) and AIB (Association Internationale de Boxe).
- ➔ A new logo to accompany the change in name signifies the new direction AIBA is heading - towards a strong and bright future.
- ➔ Limit on Presidential terms to three four-year terms
- ➔ Reduction in the size of the AIBA Executive Committee from 30 to 15 members
- ➔ Only one recognized AIBA Confederation in each continent
- ➔ Following permanent commissions will be effective by 2010: Finance Commission, Technical Rules Commission, Referees & Judges Commission, Medical Commission, Competitions & Equipment Commission, Youth Commission, Women's Commission, Athletes' Commission, Public Relations, Media & Marketing Commission, Development Commission and an AIBA League Commission.

Leading the way for the future of Boxing

The AIBA Executive Committee was inspirational in its commitment to taking AIBA into a new era in 2007. The 33 members met three times during the year making key decisions each time in order to revolutionize boxing for the benefit of future generations.

The opening meeting held in the hometown of AIBA President Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu in Taipei, Taiwan came just four months after the election of Dr. Wu, providing the opportunity to reaffirm the AIBA Commission chairman and unveil an AIBA Reform Committee which was charged with revolutionising AIBA and the sport of boxing. The second AIBA Executive Committee meeting was held in the heart of the Olympic movement – in the IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland. The full range of proposals from the AIBA Reform Committee received the full backing of the members, giving the project their unanimous support ahead of the Extraordinary Congress at the end of the year.

The third and final meeting took place on the eve of the Extraordinary Congress and AIBA World Championships Chicago 2007, not only confirming Milan, Italy as the host city for the 2009 World Championships but setting up what was to be a defining moment in the history of international boxing one day later.

The World's Best Cadets Deliver In Baku

Cuba's Rey Plat after winning gold in the 70kg class

The outstanding AIBA Cadet World Championships held in the capital city of Azerbaijan, Baku proved to be another excellent illustration of AIBA's new transparent and fair officiating with nine countries walking away with gold medals across 13 weight categories.

Thirteen nations were represented in the finals before Azerbaijan, India, Russia and the Ukraine led the gold medal count with two apiece while USA, Uzbekistan, Kazakhstan, Cuba and Puerto Rico all claimed one each.

The 6th edition of the world championships for boxers aged 15 and 16 proved to be another excellent example of AIBA's new direction thanks to the high level of competition, the camaraderie between the participants and the absence of any official protests. India's Vipin Kumar (50kg) was named the tournament's best boxer while hosts Azerbaijan topped the points and medal ranking with 36 points followed by Russia (27 points) and Uzbekistan (24 points).

Historic moment for AIBA President with Olympic Museum unveiling

A very proud and jubilant AIBA President Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu unveiled his Olympic Tennis Centre and Olympic Museum in Xiamen, China in November, a project he had been working on for five years and is fully dedicated towards the Olympic Movement and its principles.

Sixty-one-year-old Wu, an IOC member since 1988, was joined by IOC Vice President from Japan Mr. Chiharu Igaya, Mr. Cigui Liu, the mayor of Xiamen City, members of the AIBA Executive Committee and other dignitaries and friends for the opening ceremony, which took place on the conclusion of the Good Luck Beijing boxing test event for the Beijing Olympic Games.

The Olympic museum is the first to be stationed in China and boasts historic Olympic footage and data, lecture rooms and a collection of Dr. Wu's own Olympic memorabilia.

"This is a very proud moment for me, to be here on this special occasion with my dear colleagues and friends" Dr. Wu said at the opening of the museum. "I wanted to share this historic moment as I have never made such a personal investment such as this. This moment marks the realization of five years hard work, investment and devotion

Dr. Wu wanted to share the historic moment with friends and colleagues towards a project which will be a great source of education, inspiration and hope for generations to come."

AIBA - Congrès Extraordinaire

La Boxe entre dans une nouvelle Ere

Traduction de la page 1 - Message du Président

Bienvenue à cette édition spéciale de "Boxing News"

Les derniers douze mois ont été historiques pour la boxe en maintes façons et la revue 2007 me fournit le moyen idéal pour reconnaître et apprécier ces changements sous toutes leur forme.

Grâce à l'énorme travail de toute la famille « AIBA », l'année 2007 a été une année exceptionnelle pour l'AIBA. AIBA a atteint des sommets incroyables pendant cette année et achevé de nombreux objectifs. La boxe a désormais un futur et nous pouvons tous être fiers du travail accompli.

Avec trois réunions du Comité Exécutif, un Congrès Extraordinaire et des Championnats du Monde AIBA Senior et Cadet révolutionnaires, l'année 2007 va prendre une place spéciale dans nos cœurs. Nous pouvons désormais nous concentrer à construire sur les fondations qui ont amenées l'AIBA là où elle se trouve aujourd'hui et continuer la transformation du sport de la boxe vers ce sport auquel nous croyons.

Sportivement Vôtre,
Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu, AIBA President

Une Nouvelle Ere pour la Boxe

La Comité Exécutif AIBA a été visionnaire en poursuivant son engagement d'amener l'AIBA dans une nouvelle ère en 2007. Les 33 membres se sont rencontrés trois fois pendant l'année prenant des décisions clefs lors de chaque réunion pour révolutionner la boxe pour les générations futures.

La première rencontre s'est tenue quatre mois après son élection dans la ville où réside le Président de l'AIBA, le Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu, à Taipei (Taiwan). Cette réunion a donné l'occasion de confirmer les présidents des diverses Commissions de l'AIBA et de révéler le Comité de Réforme qui est chargé de transformer l'AIBA et le sport de la boxe.

La seconde réunion du Comité Exécutif de l'AIBA s'est tenue au cœur du mouvement Olympique – au siège social du Comité International Olympique à Lausanne, en Suisse. Toutes les propositions présentées par le Comité de Réforme de l'AIBA ont été acceptées par les membres qui ont donné leur support unanime au projet avant le Congrès Extraordinaire qui s'est tenu à la fin de l'année.

La troisième et dernière réunion s'est tenue la veille du Congrès Extraordinaire et des Championnats du Monde 2007 de l'AIBA, à Chicago. La ville de Milan en Italie y a été confirmée comme la Ville hôte des Championnats du Monde 2009 de même que la mise en place des changements clés de la boxe internationale.

Un jour historique pour l'AIBA et la Boxe

Traduction des pages 4 & 5

André Gorgemans, M. Piermarco Zen-Ruffinen, Président Wu, le Président du Comité de Réforme, M. Gerhard Heiberg, le Président de la Commission d'Éthique, le Dr. François Carrd, M. Essar Gabriel and Mme Reid Preston Mizell)

Le Congrès Extraordinaire de l'AIBA à Chicago en 2007, qui s'est tenu la veille des Championnats du Monde AIBA - Chicago 2007, a vu la naissance de la nouvelle AIBA et a marqué un tournant pour la boxe internationale suite à l'approbation du projet de réforme de l'AIBA ; ce dernier a approuvé les nouveaux statuts de l'AIBA, son nouveau nom et son nouveau logo.

Le Président de l'AIBA, le Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu, a remercié les 114 fédérations qui ont participé à ce Congrès et a remercié les 103 fédérations qui ont voté en faveur de ces réformes pour leur vision et leur détermination à mener l'AIBA vers une nouvelle ère. Une seule fédération a voté contre.

«C'est un jour historique pour AIBA,» a dit le Docteur Wu. «Aujourd'hui, c'est la naissance de la nouvelle AIBA. Les nouveaux statuts de l'AIBA révolutionneront AIBA et permettront à la boxe de prospérer dans le monde entier.»

AIBA-Congrès Extraordinaire

Réformes clefs:

- ➔ Changement de nom. Autrefois appelée l'Association de Boxe Amateur Internationale, on connaît maintenant AIBA sous son nouveau nom: l'Association Internationale de Boxe. AIBA est une combinaison des acronymes anglais et français - IBA (International Boxing Association) et AIB (Association Internationale de Boxe).
- ➔ Un nouveau logo pour accompagner le changement de la raison sociale marque la nouvelle direction vers laquelle l'AIBA se dirige - vers un avenir prometteur.
- ➔ Limite de la présidence à trois termes de quatre ans
- ➔ Réduction du Comité Exécutif de 30 à 15 membres
- ➔ Une seule Confédération AIBA reconnue par continent
- ➔ Les Commissions suivantes seront en fonction jusqu'en 2010: Commission des finances, Commission technique et des règles, Commission d'arbitrage et de jugement, Commission médicale, Commission de sécurité et d'équipements, Commission de la jeunesse, Commission de boxe féminine, Commission des athlètes, Commission de presse et de relations publiques, Commission de marketing, Commission scientifique et de recherche et une Commission « Aiba leagues».

Moment historique pour le Président de l'AIBA: Inauguration d'un Musée Olympique

Le Président de l'AIBA, le Dr. Ching-Kuo Wu, adresse l'audience à la cérémonie d'ouverture

Un président de l'AIBA très fier et radieux, le docteur Ching-Kuo Wu a inauguré en novembre 2007 son Centre Olympique de Tennis et le Musée Olympique à Xiamen en Chine; le Dr. Wu a travaillé sur ce projet entièrement dédié au Mouvement Olympique et ses principes pendant cinq ans.

M. Chiharu Igaya (Vice-Président du CIO), Mr. Cigui Liu (maire de la ville de Xiamen), des membres du Comité Exécutif de l'AIBA ainsi que d'autres personnalités et amis ont assisté avec le Dr. Wu (66 ans), membre du CIO depuis 1988, à la Cérémonie d'Ouverture qui a eu lieu à la suite de l'événement test pour les Jeux Olympiques de Beijing, le « Good Luck Beijing Boxing Test ».

Le Musée Olympique est le premier Musée de ce type en Chine et renferme des souvenirs et des données historiques, des salles de cours ainsi que la collection olympique personnelle du Dr. Wu.

« Je suis très fier d'être ici à cette occasion spéciale avec mes chers collègues et amis » a déclaré le Dr. Wu à la cérémonie d'ouverture. « Je voulais partager ce moment historique étant donné que n'ai jamais auparavant fait un tel investissement personnel. Ce moment marque la réalisation de cinq ans de dur labeur, d'investissement et de
